KOOKKAL TOPICAL GRADE

WINE & FOOD GRADE

Kookkal Topical Grade™ denotes the special and unique growing methods and practices that we employ to specially develop the key active ingredients such as grapes, green tea etc for skin care & well being applications as opposed to food grade or wine grade applications. Eg: Our grapes are grown at our high altitude vineyards which lead them to develop much heavier skins and seeds as a protective response to the higher UV sunlight at these altitudes and latitudes. The skin and seeds of grapes are rich in polyphenols and antioxidants which have enormous skin care & well being benefits. Thus the extra protective response so developed is transferred to the finished product. Our growing and harvesting practices are also different from other vineyards where sugar content and astringency balance are the main targets for wine or food use

KOOKKAL TOPICAL

Thus, Kookkal Topical Grade™ grapes are grown to maximize polyphenolic antioxidants and alpha hydroxy acids which have major skincare benefits.

The same special Kookkal Topical Grade™ development and cultivation practices apply to our other key ingredients such as green tea, herbs, wild flowers etc.

The special cultivation practices of Kookkal Topical Grade™ also involve unique combinations involving minimum intervention, biodynamic and organic practices that impart exceptional properties to our key active ingredients that are present in the finished products.

GREEN TEA

Kookkal Topical Grade™ can also denote certain rare wild flowers, herbs, berries etc which are endemic to the Nilgiris mountains and grow in the wild and have enormous well being and skin care benefits. At Kookkal Life Sciences, we specially propagate these wild flora in our domaine under our careful supervision and control to produce unique finished products exclusive to our company. Eg : Helichrysum, Thavittupalam etc. Prior to propagation, identification of flora for their exceptional properties in use as key active ingredients is a key and critical step that our personnel are well versed in.

Nuts & Cereals

Nuts and Cereals are staples to every balanced diet. The nuts and cereals we export are handpicked and only the best quality for export. We handle these nutritional gems with care and ensure that they remain nutrition-dense and do not lose their health benefits. We offer you highly competitive prices and strict adherence to delivery schedule.
